CTG RELEASES REPORT OUTLINING RECOMMENDATIONS FOR NEW YORK STATE IT GOVERNANCE

New levels of capability for coordinated action across organizational boundaries are required in order for government to realize the transformative potential of technology and cope with new economic imperatives. This new report outlines five recommendations for change developed through a collaborative, consensus-driven process conducted by CTG on behalf of the New York State CIO community. The recommendations are targeted at building new capability for enterprise information technology investment decision making for New York State.
