

Further Research

Further research in this area is needed to validate the claims of the vendors. A sample database should be run against each of these tools and the cleanliness of the data should be verified after each iteration.