

Exemplary Practices in Electronic Records and Information Access Programs

July 2004

Anthony M. Cresswell

This current practices research report identifies and describes exemplary practices in providing electronic access to information. It includes an examination of the professional academic literature, a review of Web-based resources, and a study of best practices in selected organizations.

* This material is based upon work supported in part by the National Historical Publications and Records Commission under Grant No. 98027. The opinions, findings, and conclusions or recommendations expressed in this publication are those of the author(s) and do not necessarily reflect the views of the National Historical Publications and Records Commission.