

Reassessing New York: A Collaborative Process

Thu, 01 Jun 2000

Mark LaVigne, David R. Connelly, Donna S. Canestraro, Theresa A. Pardo

In order to implement the state's new annual reassessment program, the New York State Office of Real Property Services (ORPS) set out to identify the needs of the local assessment community. This project was conducted by CTG in partnership with a team from ORPS as part of the Using Information in Government (UIG) program. This report presents a set of recommendations that were collaboratively developed by ORPS and members of the assessment community.